Market position

VietJet Air (VJC) is the first private airline in Vietnam, established in 2007 by three major shareholders: T&C Group, Sovico Holdings, and HD Bank. The company primarily operates in the air transportation sector. Vietjet has an extensive flight network covering Southeast Asia and Northeast Asia, with 125 domestic and international routes. VJC became the first airline to connect Vietnam with the five largest cities in Australia through direct routes. The airline is also the carrier operating the largest number of routes between Vietnam and India. The airline has also received various international awards related to operational efficiency and low-cost airline services, strengthening its reputation in the regional aviation industry.

Financial performance

During 2020–2025, VietJet Aviation experienced significant fluctuations due to the COVID-19 pandemic and the recovery cycle of the aviation industry. Revenue growth dropped sharply to -63.99% in 2020 and -29.34% in 2021, while the company recorded a net loss of VND 2,262 billion in 2022, causing ROEA and ROAA to decline to -14.25% and -3.78%, respectively. However, VJC recovered strongly during 2023–2025, with revenue growth reaching 45.34%, 23.49%, and 13.95%, while profit after tax increased from VND 231 billion in 2023 to VND 2,123 billion in 2025. EPS also rebounded significantly from -4,177 in 2022 to 3,805 in 2025, reflecting improving profitability and operational efficiency thanks to the recovery of tourism demand, international flight expansion, and the normalization of global air travel activities.

Medium and long-term prospectus

Expansion of International Flight Network

VietJet Aviation continues launching new routes across the Asia–Pacific region, particularly to Australia and India, helping strengthen revenue growth and regional market presence.

Recovery of Travel Demand

The strong recovery in tourism, international travel, and trade activities is expected to support higher passenger traffic and long-term profit growth for VJC.

Competitive Low-cost Airline Model

VietJet focuses on maintaining a low-cost operating model, improving operational efficiency, and expanding its modern aircraft fleet. Its strong brand recognition in the budget airline segment also provides a sustainable competitive advantage in the aviation market.

Business model

VJC operates under a low-cost carrier (LCC) model, generating revenue from passenger transportation, ancillary services, cargo operations, and aircraft-related activities. Ancillary revenue streams such as baggage fees, seat selection, onboard services, and cargo transportation play an important role in improving profitability and cost efficiency.

RISK TOLERANCE

Vingroup has a high risk profile due to its aggressive and capital-intensive expansion strategy, particularly through large investments in VinFast. The group is highly exposed to financial leverage, global EV competition, international capital market conditions, and fluctuations in Vietnam’s property market. To manage these risks, VIC focuses on international fundraising, debt restructuring, and strategic asset optimization to maintain liquidity and support long-term growth.

TIME HORIZON

LONG-TERM INVESTMENT HORIZON (5 YEARS OR LONGER)

Vingroup is more suitable for long-term investors who can tolerate high volatility. The company’s future growth depends heavily on the success of VinFast, large-scale urban developments, and its long-term ecosystem expansion strategy.
